

Poetry

CORBUSIER, KONDO, CONDO

(minimalism?)

by *Martha
Webster*

To solve the puzzle
decipher the color code.

Immoderately, clash.
Orange and magenta

plastic. A velvet plush sofa bolster.

Smelt the metal
boundaries of design.

Spend a fortune,
or go full bore

abstemious. Note
the dire requirements

of minimalism:

water element
cleanliness as torture

you get to keep one pen house = ash = death symbol.

Martha Webster is a nurse living in LA. She is also a poet, a grandmother, a hiker, a swimmer, and a dedicated beach-clean-upper.